

연세대학교
YONSEI UNIVERSITY

Keio University
Tokyo, Japan

Yonsei-Keio Public Seminar

The rapid development of AI in recent years has had a large impact on universities, drastically changing the ways education is given to students and how research is conducted. Under the theme of “Humanities at Risk?”, we intend to leverage this one-day event to explore the challenges and possibilities facing higher education in the age of AI from the humanities perspective.

- Co-Organizers: Yonsei University, Seoul and Keio University, Tokyo
- Date: Tuesday, December 2, 2025
- Overall Theme: Humanities at Risk?
- Venue: Keio University (G-Lab, Level 6, East Research Building, Mita Campus)
- Participants: faculty members, students, administrative staff, and invited guests on both sides.
- Language: English (Simultaneous interpretation will not be available.)

Professor Hye Joon Yoon
Department of English
Yonsei University

Associate Professor Nam Ju Kim
Department of Education
Yonsei University

Professor Noriyuki Harada
Dean
Graduate School of Letters
Keio University

Professor Satoko Tokunaga
Faculty of Letters
Keio University

Professor Akira Ishii
Faculty of Economics
Keio University

연세대학교
YONSEI UNIVERSITY

Keio University
Tokyo, Japan

Program :

MC: Professor Motohiro Tsuchiya, Vice-President for Global Engagement,
Keio University

12:30 – 13:25

Door Opens for Registration

13:30 -13:45

Opening

Welcome remarks:

Professor Kohei Itoh, President, Keio University (3 min)

Professor Dong-Sup Yoon, President, Yonsei University (3 min)

Photo Session

13:45 – 14:15 (30 min)

Keynote:

Professor Noriyuki Harada, Dean, Graduate School of Letters, Keio University

14:15 -15:30 (75 min)

Panel discussions

1. Presentation by the panelists (10-minute presentation per panelist)

- Professor Hye Joon Yoon, Department of English, Yonsei University
- Associate Professor Nam Ju Kim, Department of Education, Yonsei University
- Professor Satoko Tokunaga, Faculty of Letters, Keio University
- Professor Akira Ishii, Faculty of Economics, Keio University

2. Discussion and Q&A session open to the floor
(moderated by Vice-President Tsuchiya)

15:30 – 16:00 (30 min)

Wrap-up and closing remarks

Professor Yong-Chan Kim, Vice President for International Affairs, Yonsei University

16:00-16:30

Coffee break and free discussion

*This event is held as part of the Program for Forming Japan's Peak Research Universities (J-PEAKS). Yonsei University is the participating institution in J-PEAKS.